

Bells + Whistles

Who is Bells + Whistles?

Bells + Whistles design studio was founded by Barbara Rourke and Jason St. John in 2000, and has been in-demand ever since. Known for their eclectic and innovative interiors, Bells + Whistles is responsible for some of Southern California's most iconic designs; from San Diego's Starlite, Sycamore Den and Chef Javier Plascencia's Bracero to the L.A.-based Juice Served Here chain, Red Bull Studios and Chef Ray Garcia's Broken Spanish and BS Taqueria.

The team gleans its inspiration from pretty much everything – food, fashion, music, their clients, friends, and one another. They combine fresh ideas with influences from different eras, styles, and genres to create inimitable, award-winning environs for their clients and users.

“I always try to pick up a little something from wherever I go.”

My style in three words:

Chic, Architectural, Effortless

Design tip...

Surround yourself with things that are authentic to you. Create a collection from your travels and adventures. I always try to pick up a little something from wherever I go.

Design element you're obsessed with...

Plants, plants and more plants. It's starting to look like quite the jungle at my house! And, they never go out of style!

For more information visit <http://www.allthebellsandwhistles.com/>

